Certaine deuoute and Godly petitions, commonly called.

Iesus Psalter

IT is to vnderstand, that there be three maner of Psalters

The fyrst is called Dauyds Psalter, which conteineth thyse fyfty Psalmes.

The second is called ỹ Psalter of our Lady, conteyning thyse fiftie Aues. the Thirde is called the Psalter of Iesu, or ỹ inuoca-tion of Jesu, cõteyning xv. principal petitions, which x. times repeted make also thrise fiftie. In the which Psalter and inuocation, is the glorious name of our Sauiour Jesu called vpon iiii. C. & fiftie times. Whosoeuer vseth to say it, trust they verily, ỳ they shall finde therby special help to resist temptation, and haue encrease of grace and vertue by the singuler helpe of Jesu. Of this blessed name S. Peter in ỳ Acts of the Apostles saith: There is none other name vnder heauen giuen to men, in the which it behoueth vs to be saued.

And

And our Sauiour saith in the Gospell of saint Iohn, that wee should make our petitions in his name, which is the Mediatour of our saluation, whose glorious vision and most amorous fruition in the celestiall glory shal be our perpetuall ioye and incomprehensible consolation.

Here is to be noted (as it is said before) that these .v. principal petitions must be saide eche one by themselfe .v. times, like as they shall be sette forth in this booke by order. And ye may saye them vpon your ten fingers, or vpon ten beades, or els reade them as they be written, and it is good for them that can not read, to learne these inuocations without booke.

Beginne your Psalter with deuout genuflexion, at the leastwise with inclination to Iesu, and say thus, as followeth.

With the hand of thy feruent loue than I beseche thée to take mæ: & strengthe me in thy power, and with thy goodnesse glad mæ.

Kéepe me so occupyed in good workes, that my prayers may be acceptable to thée.

Heare now, swéete sauiour Iesu, heare the voice of a sinner, which would faine loue thée: and with the heart as greatly please thée, as euer it hath offendid thée, & if it plese thy grace, more largely to recompēse, it besecheth thée.

Iesu saue myne enimies fro thine enmitie, & forgiue thē that they haue offended me, lyke as I would be forgiuē in those things whereby I haue offended thée.

Lorde, help all those, which haue holpen me, or prayed for me, or shewed to me any déede of pitty.

Thy grace, Lord, and the merits of thy precious bloud, defend mée fro the strikinge Angell and the spirit of pestilence, & make him to ouerpasse mée.

Haue mercy on all sinners, Iesu I beseech thée, turne their vices into vertues, & make them true obseruers of thy law, and louers of thée: bringing them to blisse in euerlasting glory.

Haue mercy also on the soules in purgatory for thy bitter passion, I beseech thée, and for thy glorious name Iesu.

The holy Trinitie, one very god haue mercy on me. Pa. nost. Aue.

The fifteenth petition.

i Jesu. Jesu. Jesu. Giue me grace to order my lyfe to thée.

ii Jesu. Jesu. Jesu. Giue me. &c.

iii Jesu. Jesu. Jesu. Giue me &c.

iiii Jesu. Jesu. Jesu. Giue me &c.

v Jesu Jesu Jesu. Giue me. &c.

vi Jesu Jesu Jesu. Giue me. &c.

vii Jesu Jesu Jesu. Giue me &c.

viii Jesu Jesu Jesu Giue me &c.

ix Jesu Jesu Jesu. Giue me &c.

x Jesu Jesu Jesu. Giue me grace to order my lyfe to thée.

IEsu giue me grace to order my lyfe and the workes of my body & soule with actual entent, finally to thée, & the reward of thy infinite ioy and eternall felicitie.

The water and bloud, which ranne fro thy blessed heart, wash my soule from sinne & iniquitie, and purchace to me abundance of grace faithfully to serue thee.

O my lord, my lyfe, my might, my light, leade me, fede me, and spede me, in the pylgrimage of this mortalitie.

Graunt me, Lorde, by the merites of thy passion, and vertue of thy most excelent and glorious Diuinitie, whatsoeuer thy wysdome knoweth mosse expedient to me, which my miserable lyfe is not worthy to obteine of thee.

At the houre of death (when I shall be accused afore thée) for ỹ death that thou suffredst for sinners, haue mercy on me.

Breake my froward hart, and make it obedient to thée. Fro sodaine & vnforeséene death, Lorde preserue me.

Graunt me grace, to depart with contempt of this worlde, & with ioyfull hart to come to thée.

Let the remembraunce of thy passiõ, make me ioyfully to take temptation & tribulation for the loue of thée.

Make me mosse to loue that ioyfull lyfe, that immortall glory, most excelent blisse, and end-

lesse felicitie, which is ordeined in the heauenly kingedome for the seruants of thée.

By the vertue of thy incarnation, natiuitie, passion and resurrection, graunt me these supplicatiõs, which I haue made to thée.

This inuocation & Psalter of thée, by ỹ meditation of thy most intierly beloued Mother, purchace to me gracious life & blessed ending, frée fro debt & deadly sinne, I beseech thée, and after my bodily death, euerlastinge lyfe, with endlesse blisse and felicitie.

Haue mercye on all sinners Iesu, I beseech thée: turne the vices into vertues, & make them true obseruers of thy lawe, & louers of thée: bring them to blisse in euerlasting glory.

Haue mercy also on the soules in purgatory for thy bitter passion, I beseech thée, & for thy glorious name, Iesu.

The holy Trinitie, one very God haue mercy on me.

Dominus noster Iesus Christus humiliauit semetipsum ꝓ nobis, factus obediens vsque ad mortem mortem autem Crucis.
Pater noster. Aue Maria. Credo.

Thus endeth this Psalter,

An admonition.

VNto such as haue none oppor tunitie to say the whole Psalter togither, it is good that they say the first .v. petitions one day, and the second .v. another daye, & the last .v. another daye, and so in thre dayes they shall saye the whole Psalter. But els if they may haue conuenient time, it is better to say the .xv. principal petitions euery day, & eche of them .x. times, with In nomine Iesu, in the beginning, Pater noster. Aue Maria. And at euery fifth, lyke as it is written in the booke, with Dominus noster. Pater noster. Aue Maria. Credo.

Here foloweth a wholesome doctrine how to resist and ouercome the ghostly temptations of the fende.

Doctours do wryte, that in spiritual temptations we shuld behaue our selues otherwise, thã in carnal temptations we ought to resist & wrestle with them: but we may not doe so in spirituall temptations. Wisely & discretly we must resist them, but in no wyse wrestle with them: as thus When the enimy putteth a motion of infidelitie, reason not with him: & likewise when he casteth a suggestiõ of desperation, strine not with him, but vse this medicine. Suspēd your reasō, restrayn all your sences: and pluck vp all your spirits: & as the motion commeth, so let it passe, wout strife. If it be only of the disposition of our corrupt nature, this is sufficient, if it be vsed. If it come of the enimi, he wil not leaue so, but he will cleaue otherwise, and work more trouble. Thā after ỹ counsell of Doctors, vse this remedie: Dissemble, & shew your selues to sette it at naught, thoughe it be great, & lift vp your mynd to god remembring his tender mercie in the redemption of man, & how it is his ordinance, wō such temptations & paines to proue his seruaunts, naunkes, to whom he entendeth to giue the crowne of glozy. But if the enimy be fierce & will not ceasse foz this (as he is most subtil & craftie) thã mæke your selfe to god, & offer your selfe to suffer foz his loue (& foz the fruit of penaũce foz your sins) gladly & with thanks of hart, all pains, ỹ it shal please his grace to send you. And with that, call & crye with hart and wozd on ỹ holy name of Iesu x. times, oz moze oz lesse, as your deuotion serueth, with some holy and swæt meditation of reuerence to ỹ same, as god shall put in your mynde. This vertue of mækenesse, and confession of the name of Jesu in hart and word, the enimy may not abide. For although for a time he wil pretend and semble, as though he were not abashed for that vertue and name, as the Serpent, of which scripture sayth, ỹ for a time shée will stop hir eares, and yet by the word of ỹ enchanter in cõclusion shée is ouercome & taken: so certainly the enimy (the holy name named) is ouercome, although he wil not be knowen, but somtime wil make insurrectiõ more fiercely, after ỹ holy name spokẽ. Then strgõly pursue him with ỹ same, and with mækenes, & ye shall sée how he wil flée: to the great comfort

fort of all them, ẏ abyde as true seruauntes, perseuerant in this theyr prefe, to theyr great tryumphe, & vtter confusion of the enimy. This hath bene proued by experience.

A Narration.

A certain persō ther was, which by ẏ space of two yeares & more was troubled with such motions oftē times by water and by land: He had motions to desperation and to the moste abhomination, that might be, to destroy himselfe both by water & otherwise. And this sayd person ceased not, but called to god dayly, to strength him, euer cōfessing himselfe his seruant, seruant, & the worshipper of the holy name of Jesu, committing himselfe onely and wholy to the Passion of Christ and mercy of god. And sone after ỳ same time he had comfort, and was illumined or lightned in his soule how to answere ỳ enimie: to his great comfort, and to the edifying of other, and that was thus. It was giuen to him by a light, ỳ when soeuer such a motion came to his mynd, he should take the motion for an occasion of remembrance to honour the Passion of Christ, and his blessed Mother the glorious Virgin Marye. And although that it came to his mynd an

an hundred times in the day, so oft to say: Adoramus te, Christe Iesu: and to the Mother of mercy, Aue Maria.

And thus the persõ was cleane deliuered from his great temptation and trouble, to the great encrease of hope in his soule, to the vtter driuing away of ꝯ enimy, and to the glory of god: to whom be all honour and prayse, world without ende. Amen.
